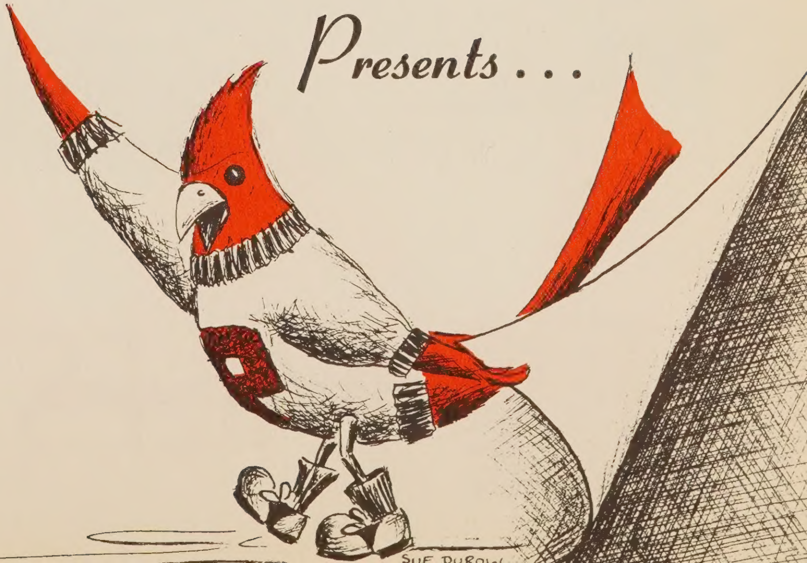
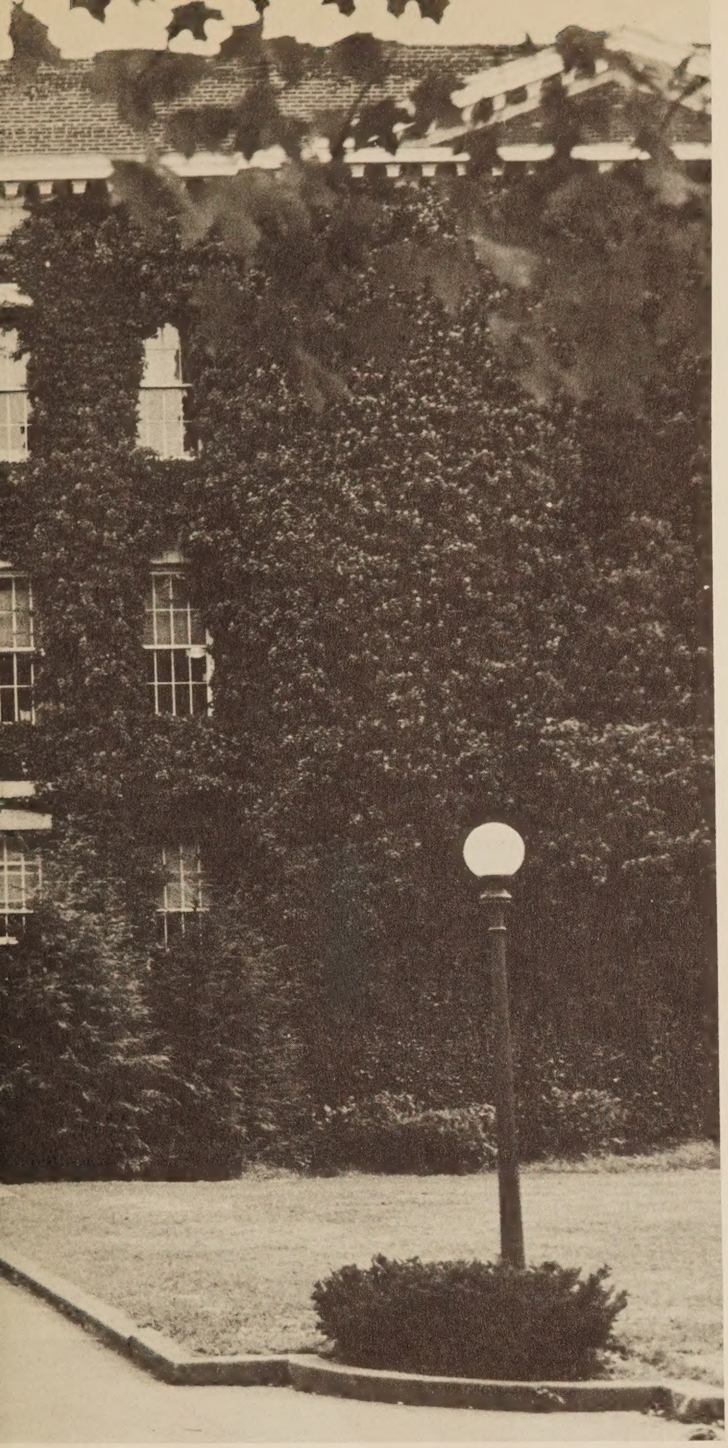
The Senior Class of
PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Presents . . .



PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOO

THE MILESTONE



1959

Published By
Plainfield High School
Plainfield, New Jersey

Foreword

What is the Milestone? Milestone is the annual report of the activities and personalities of Plainfield High School explained in words and pictures. Milestone is also a repository of memories contained between the covers of a book. Milestone portrays the joy of companionship; the excitement of athletic competitions; the orderly confusion of changing classes; the frustration of examinations; and, finally, the goal—graduation.

In Plainfield High School, all of these things are symbolized by the cardinal, a bird. The very word cardinal embraces almost all of the aspects of our high school. It begins with the cardinal numbers one, two, three, and four, for the years we have spent here; it includes the cardinal virtues of justice, prudence, temperance, and fortitude; it glows with cardinal red for the brightness of high school life; its rays extend to the cardinal points of the compass: North, East, South, and West; and it is the keynote of the years we have spent at P.H.S.

IN DEDICATION

OUR SCHOOL

It was here that many of our friendships began; it was here, also, that we became seriously aware of the world of ideas and its relationship to our lives. May we continue to grow in wisdom and understanding by developing our God given abilities; thus, we can complete the cycle which began here.

Behind the Scenes

CLAYTON R. BROWER
Assistant Superintendent

Education is a privilege for all Americans but especially so in Plainfield, where a group of capable and enthusiastic people concern themselves with our welfare. Although we have not had the opportunity to get to know all of these gentlemen personally, we are aware that by their devoted interest to the educational system in Plainfield, we have received twelve years of commendable education.

It is possible at this time to get acquainted with the people who have afforded us so many opportunities. Mr. Victor J. Podesta, our new Superintendent of Schools, has successfully taken over the post which Mr. Ross M. Gill had held so well. The Superintendent, his assistant, and the Board of Education work expeditiously and with interest so that our school system operates efficiently.

We sincerely thank these people for our many opportunities and will not forget their concern for us.

ADMINISTRATORS

JEAN FRANCIS
Vice-Principal

The Plainfield High School administration has done much to increase the prestige and renown of our school, thereby enabling us to receive favorable recognition by other schools and colleges.

We have been fortunate in having Mr. Warren Held as our school principal for our entire four years here. During this time, many of us have come to know him personally and are aware of his friendliness and capabilities. He has done much to promote better understanding between students and faculty. Although Dr. Jean Francis has been with us only two years, she has become an integral part of life at P.H.S. Her interest in us, both individually and as a class, has encouraged us to strive toward our goals. Our assistant administrators, Mr. Henry Banta and Mr. Joseph Passerella, have been much more than supervisors; they have been good friends and hard workers in our behalf.

At this time we feel it fitting to mention our class adviser, Mr. A. Hamilton Otto, who is highly esteemed by every member of the class of '59.

We feel it a privilege to have been acquainted with such a fine administration.

Message . . .

MR. WARREN H. HELD, Principal

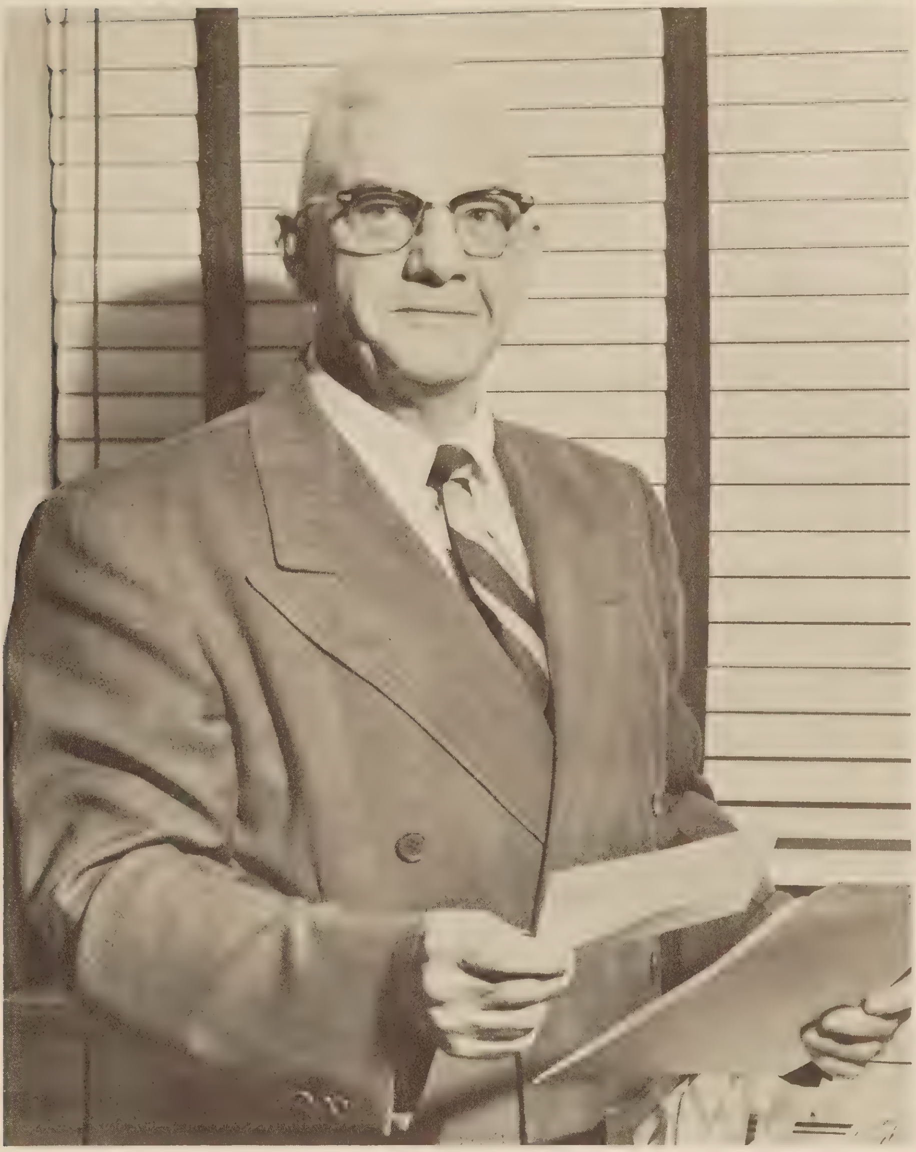
Principal's Message for the 1959 Milestone

We have a proud history as a four-year school. Thousands of our graduates can be found in all parts of the world, in all types of professions and occupations, contributing to the needs and to the advancement of the human race. We are proud of their achievements and proud of the fact that our alumni come from every kind of social, economic, racial and religious background.

We are proud of you, more than 2000 of you, who have made up our student body this year. You have already achieved in many areas. You have produced champions in academic areas as well as in athletics, music, drama, publications and other activities.

P.H.S. will continue in its proud history. As a three-year senior high school, there can be still more opportunity for achievement. With our long history of achievement, our excellent faculty, our strong school spirit and the facilities which our community provides for us, there is every prospect that we shall continue to break records, to produce champions, and to send good men and women out into the world.

Thank You!



A. HAMILTON OTTO, Class Adviser

The senior class wishes to express its sincere appreciation of the help given and interest shown in its activities by Mr. A. H. Otto. In his capacity as class adviser, he has had to contend with problems and situations which, at times, made demands upon his patience; but his never-failing guidance and advice have prevailed to our benefit.

We hope that he will continue to guide our successors in the same way; we know that they will appreciate him.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

A Road Map to the Future

Even before we enter Plainfield High School, our counselors meet with us to help plan our four-year high school education. Not only do they plan a schedule which fits our abilities, but they also take our future plans and interests into consideration. After we have entered Plainfield High School, our counselors help us with any personal problems that might arise, in addition to any of our scholastic problems. College-bound students find that the Guidance Department is a most necessary element, helping the students to select colleges best suited to their special interests and abilities. The non-college students find it equally helpful in their special problems. The job of the Placement Counselor is to find part-time jobs for students and to help them find full-time jobs after graduation.

As a result of the combined efforts of the entire Guidance Office, the P.H.S. graduates find themselves adequately prepared for the business world and colleges of their choice.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE — Mrs. Eleanor Henderson discusses the future with Barbara Welles, one of the many girls who come to her Office every day.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

"By Their Words Ye Shall Know Them"

Reading, writing, speaking, and listening occupy most of the student's time in or out of school; therefore, it is essential to do these skills well. There is no better place to master the specific skills necessary to enable students to use acceptable grammatical forms, spell accurately, write legibly, and read with increased comprehension than in the English classes of Plainfield High School.

Mr. Strub, as new head of the English Department, has upheld the standard of the department as the backbone of the science of education. He and the other English teachers have endeavored to teach pupils to organize their thinking, to follow instructions, to interpret directions accurately, to read current publications intelligently, to listen effectively and critically, and to speak pleasantly and clearly.

HUMOR IN HISTORY CLASS—Mrs. Westpfahl's U. S.-P.A.D. students take a break from their hard routine with a laugh.

HISTORY HUDDLE—Allan Maltby leads the discussion in Mr. Richard Pajewski's first period U. S. history class.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

The Present Mirrors the Past

Making a trip around the world is not something that many people have the opportunity of undertaking, but there is something almost as satisfying right here at Plainfield High School. Through the study of varying types of history and geography, a student finds it easy to imagine that he is living in ancient Egypt or trudging the battlefields of the two recent world wars. When it comes to studying the United Nations, the student does not find it necessary to imagine, for a yearly trip is conducted to the U. N. Film strips, movies, and outside speakers are supplements to classroom work.

Through the study of the Problems of American Democracy, we find pupils learning to appreciate the true significance of equality, democracy, liberty, and freedom. These concepts are more than just the words upon which ideal living is based.

In addition to the regular courses in history, World Geography, and Social Studies, the department offers a course exploring the fundamental principles of social psychology and one in economics.

Whatever the course selected, the student has the opportunity to learn democratic principles and practice them to his utmost advantage.

Facts 'N' Figures

Can you think of anything that has become more prominent in the world today than mathematics? Mathematics is the basis of many sciences; and, aware of this prominence and our need for skill in this field, our competent mathematics teachers are ready to plant our footsteps firmly on the path of exactness, and to guide us along the way toward mastery of this science.

Our mathematics department can help all of its students to learn all the types of mathematics from the simplest to the most difficult. Capability and enthusiasm are the only qualities needed for acquiring the knowledge.

This year a Mathematics 4X class was added to the curriculum. This class is to emphasize the study of trigonometric analysis and advanced algebra.

Some special projects included in the year's program are Pi Mu Epsilon Mathematics contest, the New Jersey State Mathematics contest, and the nation-wide contest sponsored jointly by the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries.

IN A QUANDARY—Miss Lord's algebra class keeps up-to-date with their homework.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

Out of This World . . .

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

This year, more than in any other year, more emphasis has been placed on the sciences. A year ago Russia astounded the world by sending the first satellite whirling around the earth. Since that time, educators have said that unless science is stressed more in our schools, Russia will surge ahead of us in scientific research.

The Plainfield High School Science Department, recognizing the importance of science in today's world, presents to each student modern and up-to-date courses. On the college preparatory level, students are offered College Preparatory Biology, chemistry, and physics, with emphasis on laboratory experimentation and original thinking. For students taking a general course, the department includes such subjects as General Biology, Chemistry, and General Science.

The ultimate goal is to develop thinking, capable men and women, each of whom can contribute to the welfare of mankind.

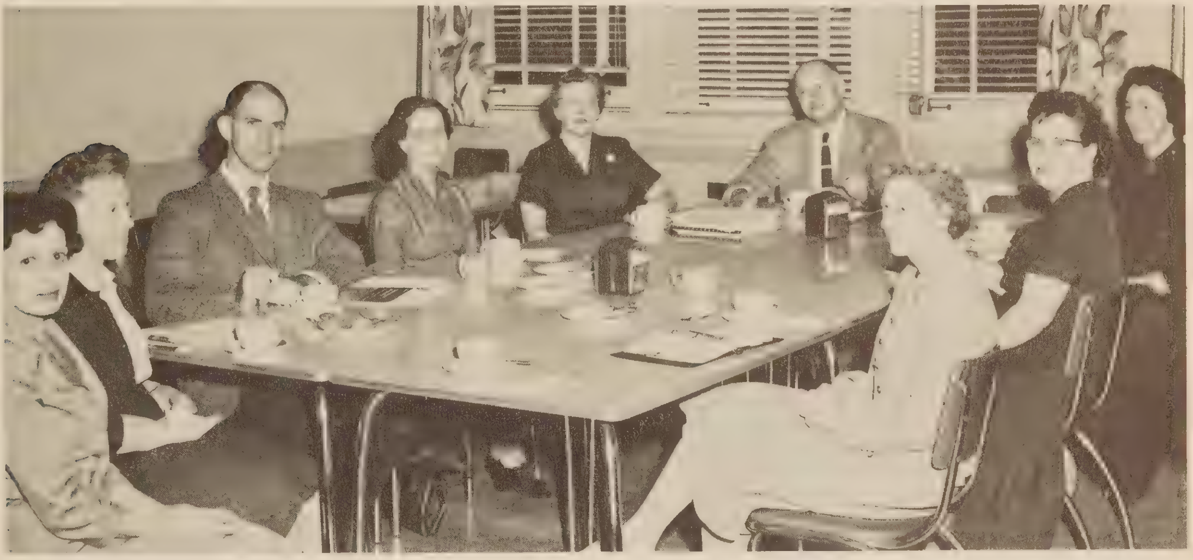
Achtung! Attention!
Nota Bene!
S'il Vous Plait!

COMPRENEZ VOUS? — Mr. Edwin Faust teaches his period 3-1W the basics of French.



LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT
Left to right: Rose Franco, Ellen M. Stubbs, Robert I. Cloos, Eleanor Horn, Katherine M. DeVlaming, Edwin M. Faust, department head; Ruth B. Denker, Anne K. Campolattano, Celia C. Whitford.

What would happen if a P.H.S. student made a journey to a foreign country? . . . Of course! he'd probably have to speak the native tongue. Many of these students would feel quite at home because they have taken advantage of one of the three year courses offered in French, Spanish, or German. Right here at P.H.S. he might find that his own English vocabulary has improved because he has learned to understand the foreign derivations of English words.

Speaking, comprehending, reading, and writing the language are the main objectives of the modern language class. This year special emphasis has been placed on oral recitation. Conversational French is offered to students of second and third year French. Students in the four year Latin course learn to read Latin literature of the classical authors and to improve their English vocabulary.

A number of activities, including regional contests and clubs for each of the four languages, are conducted during the year; and at the annual language banquets students can don native dress and partake of foreign foods.

Our Do It Yourself Program

Do you relish the thought of becoming an efficient homemaker? Are you seeking the opportunity to work with tools and machinery, or are a paintbrush and pallet more to your liking? Whatever the desire, the Industrial, Home and Fine Arts Department is ready to prepare students for a useful and satisfactory future by teaching them to use their hands as well as their heads.

Fine Arts students learn principles and elements of design as well as basic fundamentals. To prepare food, plan meals, and buy wisely are the objectives of the Home Arts course. Additional fields covered are grooming, social etiquette, sewing, selection of materials, and interior decorating. Modern Living helps to prepare students for serene human relationships, while Arts and Crafts and Interior Decorating are accompanying courses of study. Boys in Industrial Arts classes can learn different trades in auto, machine, metal, woodwork, and electric shops, and they can also study mechanical drawing. In this department they are instructed in basic fundamentals and the handling of various tools and devices.

INDUSTRIAL HOME AND FINE ARTS

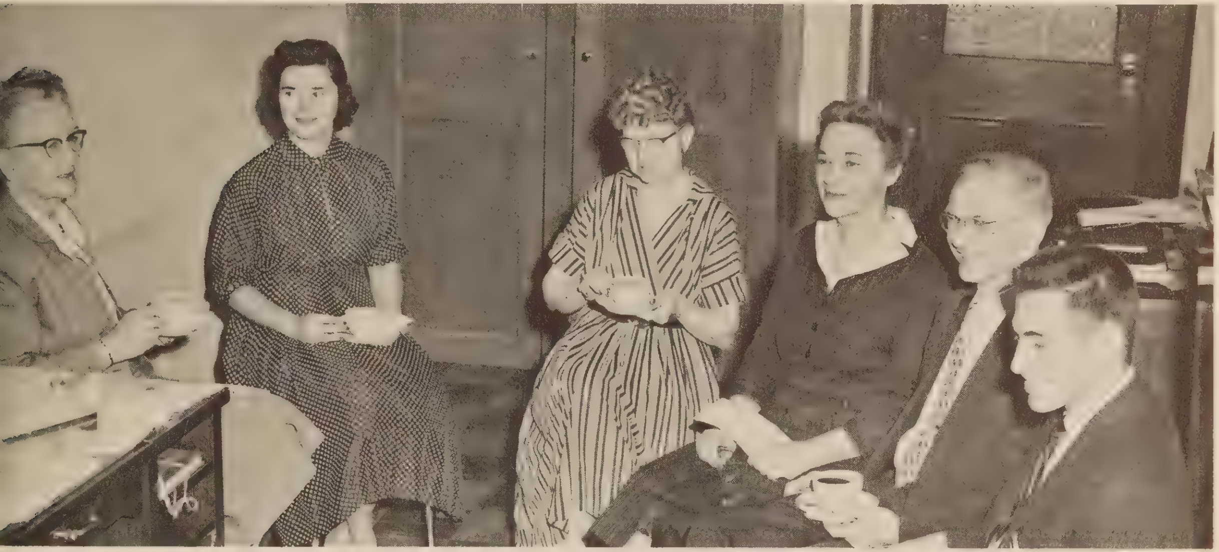
"BEAT THE WHITES OF TWO EGGS . . ."—Barbara Gibbens is given expert advice by Mrs. Berry in the making of a cake.

THE FINISHING TOUCH—Mr. Schultz aids Arthur Freeman with the last, but most important, step.

"Take a Letter . . ."

STOP THE CLOCK—Mr. Warren Sterling ends a five minute timing in his first period Typing for Personal Use class.

A HELPFUL HINT—Mrs. Ruth Wyer assists Carole Messana as she practices on the comptometer.



COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

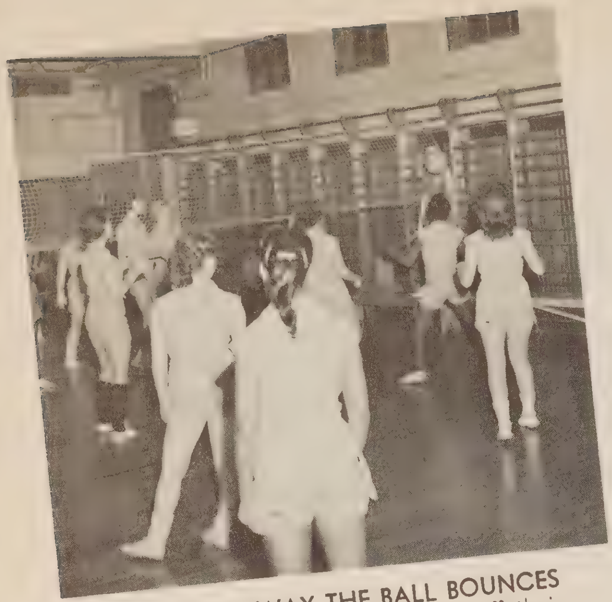
The sounds of clacking typewriters and dictation for shorthand can be heard on the second floor of P.H.S. as future secretaries and clerks learn the skills necessary to prepare them for their chosen vocations in the business field.

The Commercial Department offers courses that enable students to learn the "abc's" of many different business fields. For instance, stenography, typing, and a course in secretarial practice are available for pupils interested in becoming secretaries; bookkeeping, business mathematics, and clerical office practice are subjects that the future clerical worker would take. Special courses given are Business Law and Merchandising, Economic Geography and Salesmanship, and Junior Business Training.

Interested students are given the opportunity to visit business firms to see how they operate during the year. This visit involves actual participation by the students in the firm's work.



THAT'S THE WAY THE BALL BOUNCES—Period 3 sophomore girls show off their skills in volley ball.

Our Olympiad

"Arms forward, raise! Arms at sides, place!" These familiar commands can usually be heard ringing through the high school gyms while many P.H.S. students are attempting to make themselves physically fit. Other physical education activities, such as swimming and health classes, are also included in a typical week's program.

In addition to driving skills, it is the aim of the driver training and safety programs to enable student drivers to become acquainted with the mechanical principles of an automobile; emphasizing, furthermore, the very important role that pedestrians' safety plays in skillful driving.

HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION, AND SAFETY DEPARTMENTS

Storehouse of Information

Whether your object is research material for a homework assignment or a light novel for spare moments, you'll probably be able to find what you're looking for in the library. Here, a collection of books on widely diversified subjects is available for use by P.H.S. students. Especially valuable are the books relative to subjects being taught in school. In addition to books, the library offers special materials, such as films and records, for use by teachers and occasionally by students.

The organization of the library itself is along the same lines as those of other libraries. The quality and the size of the book selection, too, compare favorably with the materials available at other similar institutions.

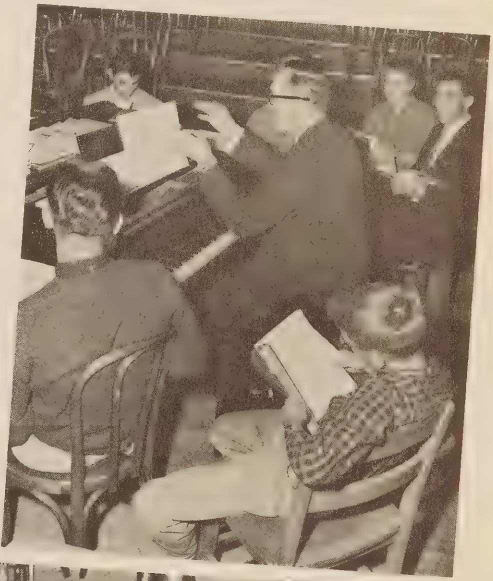
LIBRARY
Josephine E. Miller, librarian, and Constance Smith, assistant librarian.

"I Hear Music"

Music is the universal language, and it is spoken fluently in the P.H.S. Music Department. For students interested in music, either as a possible career or as a leisure activity, courses in Fundamentals of Music, History and Appreciation of Music, Harmony, and Voice Culture are offered. While some students study the factors that go into music and the mechanics of producing it, others work only with the finished product.

There are three choral groups: Mixed Chorus, Male Chorus, and Girls' Chorus. These three groups utilize what they learn as a basis for school assemblies and programs, community affairs, and the annual Choral Festival. Providing the wind and power behind the instruments are the members of the high school band and orchestra. Whether marching down the football field in brightly-colored uniforms or playing a great classic on the P.H.S. stage, these musicians contribute greatly to our understanding and enjoyment of music. We're proud of them!

SIX IN HARMONY—Mr. Hooker's period six class gathers around the piano for practice.



MUSIC DEPARTMENT
F. Louis Hooker, Howard S. Savage, and Clarence J. Andrews, Supervisor of Music. Missing: Dwight A. Brown.

MR. WARREN HELD, principal, okays some of his correspondence for his secretary, Miss Caroline Reich.

We Can't Do Without Them!

"To run a school of this size so smoothly and efficiently is a tremendous accomplishment." This is a comment typical of strangers who chance to pass through the crowded halls of Plainfield High School. Who is responsible for this? The administrators, counselors, teachers, and pupils, who also play a major role, help, naturally; but the smoothness with which our school is run is due, in a large part, to the "behind the scene helpers." Without the help of the able secretarial and clerical staff, students wouldn't know what schedules to follow, teachers wouldn't know when to attend conferences, and baffled parents wouldn't be able to discuss their children with the teachers.

Mimeographing, cutting stencils, handling correspondence, transcribing students' records, and seeing that students get forgotten books or lunches are all considered the call of duty by these hard workers. Being the core of all administrative functions, they are indispensable to the well-being of our school.

GOOD MORNING! PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL—Mrs. Ann Parello, secretary to the vice-principal, greets callers with her pleasant voice.

SECRETARIAL AND CLERICAL STAFF

OUR COOKS—Edith Robbins and Stella McNier prepare one of those famous P.H.S. lunches.

Service With a Smile

What giant eats 840 rolls with 110 pounds of frankfurters while consuming 950 pints of milk per day? As you have probably guessed, this giant is the Plainfield High student body. In addition to the above mentioned food, he demolishes 40 pies and 600 other desserts.

Wherever possible, this food is bought locally, the exception being the 40 pies. The government, too, enters the picture by subsidizing the milk and hot platters.

The staff needed to prepare food for this monster consists of 18 connoisseurs of food. Half of the staff reports at 8 o'clock to prepare the food; by eleven o'clock, the full staff is busy putting the final touches to our delicious lunches.

One of the favorite political slogans in this election year is "Let's make a clean sweep." If our custodians were running for public office, they would undoubtedly get wholehearted support from the students and faculty of P.H.S.; for upon them rests the formidable task of keeping our school neat and presentable. The mountains of papers from class work and the refuse from lunch periods must be disposed of; the grounds around the school must be kept attractive and well maintained. The public gets to know our school first through its outward appearance, so the responsibility for public opinion falls upon these men. They, however, can't do the job alone. A clean school is the result of cooperation on the part of everyone. Cleanliness, however, is but one responsibility of the staff; among many other chores, they handle the enormous amount of supplies and books necessary for efficient running of the school.

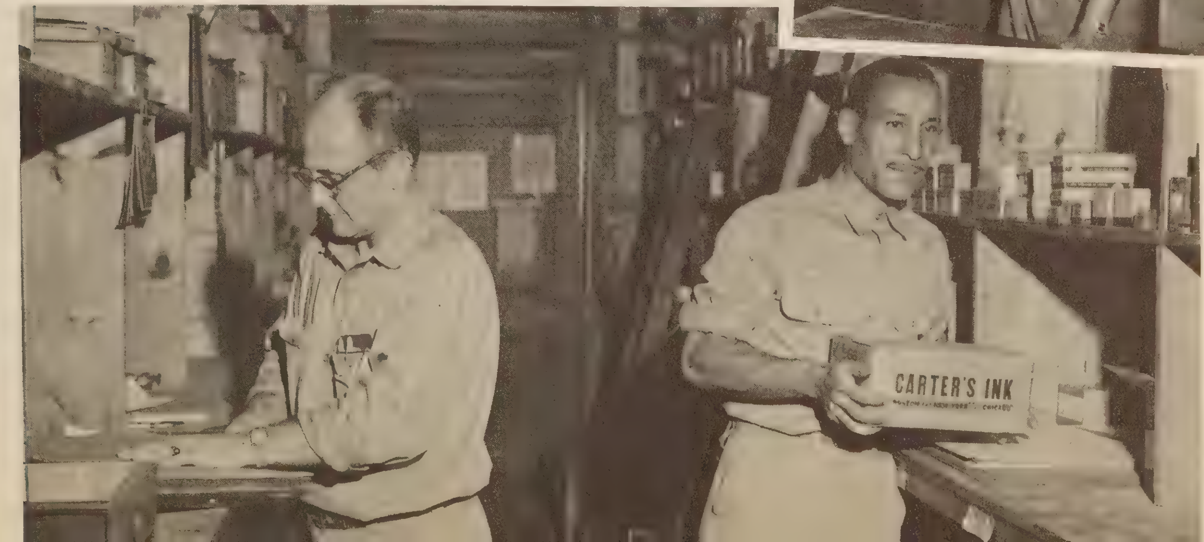
CHECKING THE STOCK—Mr. John Broadbent, head custodian, and Mr. Abe Hoffman make sure they will be ready with supplies at any time.



Passing of An Era

The Class of 1959, through the medium of the Milestone, would like to salute the passing of an era in the history of Plainfield's educational system.

Beginning in 1959, a junior high school program will come into being. This means that the high school will no longer accommodate the freshman classes. The increased school population was a major factor in bringing about the change.

It is interesting to note this change when we consider that Plainfield had one of the first public school systems in New Jersey and that the high school is consistently in the fore in academic achievement.

SCANNING THE STOCK—Carol Lindstrom, Woody Sobel and Nile Brown hopefully inspect the lost and found.

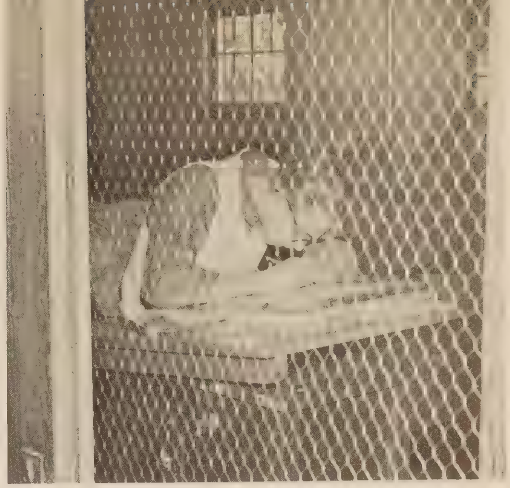
The Class of 1959 now finds itself on the brink of graduation with four full years behind, so it becomes necessary to reminisce a bit in order to discover why time seems to have slipped by so rapidly.

Our first days at P.H.S. were marked by confusion, concern, and amazement, typical reactions of new entries into high school. But, aided by experienced counselling and our trusty handbooks, we were soon acclimated and settled into the regular routine. We organized the class, electing Robert Zagoria as our president, Jon Schreyach as vice-president, Catherine Crowe as treasurer, and Ellen Romer as our secretary. Our first social event, the Freshman Party, inaugurated many happy times together as a Class. Little did we realize that our cardinal mascot, which exerted great spiritual control over our destinies, was to disappear mysteriously the following summer.

We had accepted the challenge of our Alma Mater some time before our first year was behind us. As Sophomores, what little feeling of unimportance we had possessed, vanished. The officers chosen to represent the Class were: David Tebbs, president; Herbert Smith, vice-president; assisted by JoAnn Cowling and Cynthia Barlow as secretary and treasurer respectively. Being well established in the school clubs and general activities by this time, we were successful in many endeavors, and the Sophomore dance was no exception. After much debate and planning, the Student Council initiated the operation "Bring Back the Cardinal," but a whole year was to pass before the success of this assignment was to be accomplished.

"LOOK OUT BEHIND YOU"—Jon Schreyach, Joe Battaglia, and Bill Thompson emulate the Nairobi Trio.

Studded with Success



"NOW I KNOW HOW A CHICKEN FEELS"—Robert Zmuda is caged in by work.

Our respect, influence, and superiority neared their culmination when our junior year began and, at last, we were launched as upperclassmen. Our guidance counsellors were bringing future days to our attention in the form of planning for college and the future. The twins, Attilio and Julius Chiappa, held the two top class offices while Felicia Pfister acted as secretary and Nancy Myzie took care of our finances.

Three years of conscientious study, patience, and determination qualified us for the cherished title of "Senior Class." The months sped by. Heading our Class were: Attilio Chiappa, president; Julius Chiappa, vice-president; Sue Daum, secretary; and Sue Dunham, treasurer.

Had the return of our cardinal mascot any bearing upon the undefeated record of our football team this year? Richard Young, Student Council president, continued to maintain closer ties between the students and the faculty. The Milestone continued to be a cherished publication under the editorship of Jon Rosenbaum; and the Entree, edited by Marjorie Hirschberg, went on winning admiration wherever it was read. We were in a whirlwind of activities. The Senior play, "Gramercy Ghost," played to a capacity audience. Scarcely had we recovered from the Junior-Senior dance, when we found ourselves at the Prom, the Senior Supper, and then——— graduation.

P.H.S. is now a nostalgic memory. We pay tribute to Mr. A. Hamilton Otto, our dependable adviser and warm friend. We have worked to maintain and perpetuate our Alma Mater's fine reputation and in return have reaped confidence, security and knowledge.

Gramercy Ghost

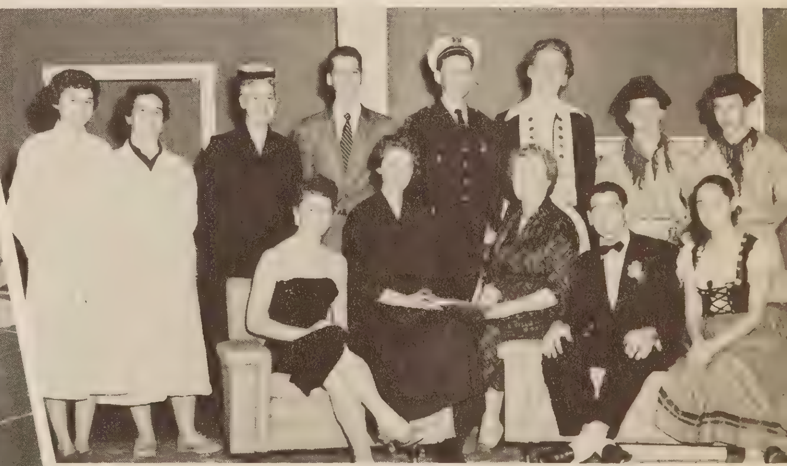
"LOOK, BUDDY" — Carol Simon tells Heywood Sobel off.

While ghosts of all sorts were wandering around town on Halloween, a very special ghost, Gramercy Ghost, haunted the Plainfield High School stage.

The senior class play had a unique plot. As soon as Augusta Ames — Claire Seitman — informed Miss Willard — Estelle Manasse — that she had inherited a ghost, the ghost, Nathaniel Coombs — Richard Grote — appeared and furnished the audience with a most satisfactory production.

Miss Mixer and her assistants, the committees, and the cast are to be congratulated for making Gramercy Ghost one of the outstanding events of the year.

A HELPING HAND—Bruce Boyce, Sue Durow, and Peter Hierl paint the scenery.



"THE CAST" — First row: Estelle Manasse, Barbara Doughty, Miss Mixer, Heywood Sobel, and Kathy Wells. Second row: Carol Turner, Carol Simon, Claire Seitman, Fred Kramer, Alan Bennett, Richard Grote, Stanley Christman, and Peter Hansen.

Durow and Lindstrom Share Senior Scholarship

As a result of united effort during their high school years, the class of 1959, duplicating the generosity of the previous graduating class, has made available a scholarship fund of $750. This fund is available to any senior preparing for education beyond the high school level; if, however, two candidates have equal qualifications, the fund may be divided.

Candidates for this scholarship must have a definite financial need and must demonstrate a satisfactory record in studies and in behavior; participation in co-curricular activities is also a requirement.

A faculty board consisting of Dr. Francis, Mr. Otto, and the four counselors met and chose the two students mentioned here.

CAROL ANN LINDSTROM

Carol has high hopes of becoming a language teacher on the junior high school level. She would like to attend a small liberal arts college because she feels that a college of this type might provide a more intimate and friendly atmosphere.

Her interest in teaching in the field of foreign languages was kindled here in Plainfield, and we feel sure that she has made the right choice.

In school she has participated in athletics, and she has been a Student Council representative and Executive Council secretary; her outside interests include memberships in the King's Daughters Circle, the Tri-Hi-Y Club, and the Young People's Association of her church.

She also has fond memories of working on a ranch for two summers. Good luck, Carol!

SUSAN DUROW

Tall, svelte, and friendly might readily describe Sue, but it would be a far from complete description. Energy and determination had to be part of her equipment in order that she might successfully cope with her full schedule.

In her high school career, Sue has had little "spare time" because her varied career has included a home room presidency, a stint with the Ushers' Squad, a Class Council membership, an Assembly Committee assignment, and work as an artist for the Entree and the Milestone.

In her senior year her art work for the Milestone involved meeting many deadlines; however, it won the approval of the photographers and artists of the book's publisher — no mean accomplishment. We hope that this accolade may encourage her in her future career — art.

Underclassmen

Juniors Boost School Spirit

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS — Seated: John Coyle, President; John Malone, Vice President. Standing: Pat Mason, Treasurer; Clara Brown, Secretary.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

After two years of hard work and fun, we finally made the grade. We were upperclassmen! When we thought back over those two years, we realized how wonderful they were.

When we first entered P.H.S., we confidently bought elevator tickets and used the front door. We chose Lee Smith, Howard Feldman, Nancy Sargent, and Judy Larew to head our group. We got to know each other at our first social function, the Freshman Party.

The second year of our four-year climb, we elected John Coyle, Ronnie Uslan, Nancy Sargent, and Carol Putsche as leaders. With one year of experience behind us, we felt that we could accomplish anything. Our Sophomore Dance, the "Schoolhouse Rock," was a headliner.

Finally, this year we reached our goal — upperclassmen. We proudly displayed our class rings to all who would look. To boost our depleted treasury, we sold shakeroos. Leading us this year were John Coyle, John Malone, Clara Brown, and Pat Mason. Along with the seniors, we held the Junior-Senior dance and the Prom.

It seems as if it were only yesterday when we first entered these halls. So much has happened in the last three years, and much more is yet to come in the best year of all — senior year.

Sophomores Sell Sweatshirts for Scholarships

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

We stormed P.H.S. on Freshman Day, confident that ours was to be the best class yet. We were soon given a chance to show our enthusiasm by electing Student Council representatives and class officers. Those elected as leaders were Janet Cass, Peter Mann, Sue Campbell, and Tom Disbrow. Our first big social event, the Freshman Party, was given without any help from upperclassmen and was a big success.

Now, after our second big year, we're sure we'll fulfill our plans of the first day. By giving a successful dance for the whole student body, we proved our ability. We also sold jackets to raise money for our scholarship fund. Chosen for our new officers were Roy Resnikoff, Peter Mann, Jean LaRossa, and Tom Disbrow.

Having completed half of our stay at P.H.S. we are looking forward to the next two years as upperclassmen. We are confident they will be as successful as our first two years here.

Last Freshman Class Enters Plainfield High

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

With man never before closer to the conquest of space, we, the Freshman Class, pondered on what we could make as our contribution to science and progress. At last we decided that we would throw our first annual "Space Age Party." Attending were our class officers, whom we had elected earlier in the year; President, Bill Burfeind; Vice-President, Bob Sikowski; Secretary, Gail Garrett; and Treasurer, Harriet Carmichael. Rather than to make money, the purpose of our dance was to acquaint more Freshmen with other Freshmen. Contributing very greatly to the dance was Mr. Lonsky, our class adviser.

We held our first major assembly, which was presided over by our new officers shortly after elections, and we were shown the functions of our class council.

We have felt traditionally honored in upholding Plainfield High School's record in sports and sportsmanship. Our Freshman football team ended its season with a perfect record, not only winning every game, but also being scored upon only once.

We have been the last Freshman Class to enter P.H.S., and we hope that we have been one of the best. We have enjoyed our first year in this fine institution, and we are looking forward to three more prosperous years.

Link Between

"We, the students of Plainfield High School, in order to stimulate and develop a healthy school spirit, to encourage and maintain participation in school activities, to create a clearing house for student opinion, and to prepare ourselves more fully for complete participation in our national democracy . . ." Thus are the aims of the Student Council stated.

Students selected for the council gather under the guidance of Mr. George Reck at regularly scheduled meetings to plan school improvements and work out projects to raise money for our school, or worthy causes outside of school. Student Council is a valuable experience in good government.

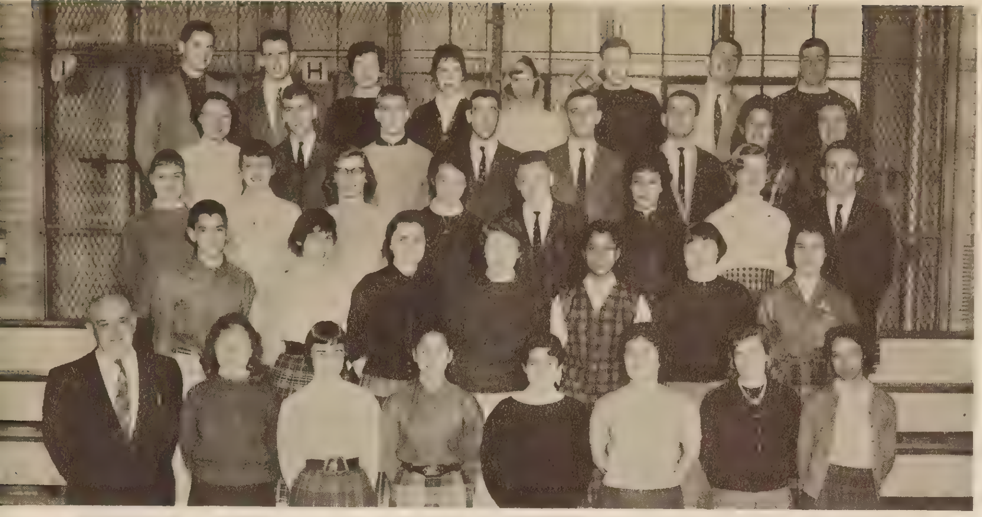
EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

"This member suggests a plan for a five-day weekend!" Another enterprising student's suggestion has come to the attention of the Executive Council, headed by Mr. George Reck. This committee of students functions as a clearing house for all matters, including preparation of the Student Council agenda, as well as acting for the Student Council in emergencies. Perhaps these committee members can't provide us with a five-day weekend, but they do work for the welfare of all students.



First row: Mr. Banta, M. Tarpey, R. Robinovitz, K. Wells, M. Perna, L. Gertler, S. Dunham, Y. Picou. Second row: J. Rosenbaum, L. Flanzbaum, J. Cowling, J. Hahn, M. Lattimore, H. Waglow, M. THE USHER SQUAD

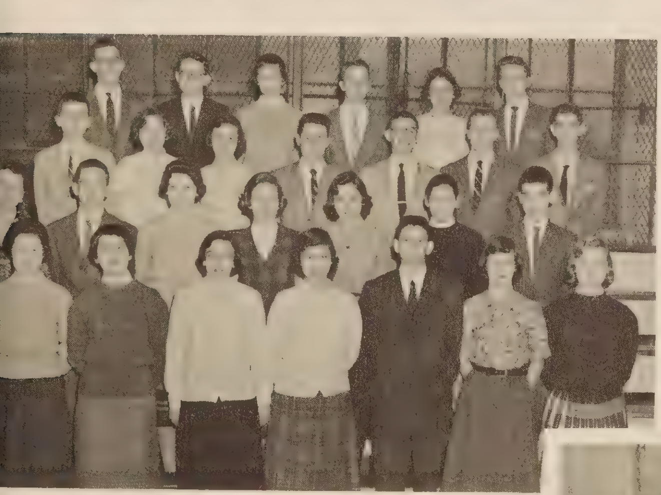
The Usher Squad, under the supervision of Mr. Banta, is made up of senior boys and girls who are chosen at the end of their junior year. The duties of a member of the Usher Squad are the following: to seat the students at assemblies; to assist at the graduation; and, whenever they are asked, to usher at outside activities.

Faculty and Students



THE ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Music-making monkeys? This type of phenomenon could occur only on the P.H.S. stage. Headed by Miss Rita Kramer, the Assembly Committee employs creative thinking, ability, and just plain hard work to produce diversified entertainment for all students. Even if your life ambition is to go on safari in deepest Africa, or defeat a teacher in a quiz, tips on how to succeed are yours in assembly.

First row: R. Sulsberg, J. Karschon, K. Stienberg, J. Frank, J. Kling, V. Bauer, and P. Tramer. Second row: R. Cramer, D. Butler, J. Bohlen, M. Klick, L. Tebbs, A. Levine, R. THE AIR RAID SQUAD

The job of the Air Raid Squad is to see that all students are in their proper places and away from any glassed-in areas. Chosen by the Student Council, the boys are supervised by Mr. Banta.

First row: N. Myzie, N. Brown, J. Coyle, H. Banta, J. Nevius, R. Goldberg, S. Dunham. Second row: J. Ruane, A. Chiappa, J. Good, J. Sheelan, F. Cunningham, L. Smith, T. McCreech, J. Malone. Third row: E. Adams, R. Predmore, J. Schreyack, H. Johnson, J. Plum, J. Chiappa, H. Smith.

Klein, H. Carmichael, N. Rosall.

Our School Spokesman

During the year, the members of the Entree staff have twelve deadlines to meet, and many tough decisions go along with them. Working on the Entree gives its staff and reporters valuable training. Spencer S. Steenrod, the faculty adviser, directs the students' writing, typing, copyreading, re-typing, headline writing, and arranging of copy, all of which compose the Entree and bring the news to the students of P.H.S.

Seated: Mr. Otto. Standing: D. Zuzzio, G. Hess, R. Rose, S. Roberts, K. O'Brien, G. Williams, E. Manasse.

ENTREE BUSINESS STAFF

A student floundering in the Okefenokee Swamp opens the last package he will ever receive — a copy of the Entree! Although this may be slightly exaggerated, the alert workers in charge of mailing for the Entree Business Staff do see that our paper reaches many parts of the country.

Headed by A. Hamilton Otto, the staff performs another important function, the procuring of advertisements. Aside from this, they are responsible for picking up and assembling copy and collecting money from advertisers.

First row: R. Grote, A. McDonald, M. Lustig, J. Rosenbaum, D. Mesler, L. Flanzbaum, D. Shoppe, S. Durow. Second row: V. Israelsky, H. Waglow, P. Lynch, S. Fleishman, J. Bernstein, S. Heyman, P. MILESTONE EDITORIAL STAFF

'59 Milestone Has Cardinal Theme

Damocles, a character from the gifted mind of Cicero, was a Roman with a problem. One day, glancing above his head, he discovered a sword dangling dangerously from a thread.

To the editorial staff, the "sword of Damocles" is a monster which appears three times a year, a deadline.

The thread holding this deadly weapon consists of galley-proofs, too many senior write-ups, and an editor-in-chief.

Will the sword fall or not, that is the question?

MILESTONE BUSINESS STAFF

Do you have a flare for advertising? If you do, then try publicizing a yearbook. This job falls into the hands of Leona Gertler and the business staff. Under the able guidance of Mr. Sterling, the staff has raised sales to an all-time high.

If you don't want to sell the yearbook, then try procuring advertisements for it. Ruth Robinovitz and her staff go to the merchants and acquire the ads. Mr. Dixon is the adviser. These two clubs had an active part in the success of the yearbook.

GIRLS' CHORUS

Amid a whirl of pastel formals and spring flowers, the choruses of Plainfield High presented their annual choral festival.

The girls' chorus was one of several choruses that took an active part. This group of approximately ninety girls practiced on Tuesdays and Thursdays during their study periods.

MALE CHORUS

The forty-five members of male chorus joined with other choruses in presenting a Christmas program and a spring choral festival.

Directed by Mr. Francis W. Hooker, they sang for their parents and friends one night in December. This concert included "Twas the Night Before Christmas," "O Holy Night," "The Story of Christmas," "Lift Thine Eyes," and other carols.

Spring found the boys practicing for the annual choral festival. Sessions were held twice a week during study periods. Many scores from hit musicals were featured.

MIXED CHORUS

"Quarter of eight, E-E-E-gads!" This agonized cry was caroled through the halls of Plainfield High by one hundred sleep-starved members of mixed chorus days before each concert.

So that they might possibly be able to stay on key during the performances, Mr. Hooker, their director, put them through their treble cleffs many a morning at this welcome hour.

The result was most enjoyable. During the Christmas holidays the "Singing Hundred" performed at the Y.M.C.A. for the Old Guard and gave a special program for their parents and friends. The annual choral festival was held in the spring.

The present mixed chorus is an addition to the choral program this year. Previously, this group was simply a combination of the other choruses. Now, however, it is completely separate.

MALE CHORUS — First row: L. Bomar, P. Witteman, C. Carter, A. Stripto, J. Elder, D. Lombardi, C. Craig, P. Sterner. Second row: C. Southgate, G. Richards, S. Appell, R. Johnson, R. Rhodes, D. BAND

The success of any high school football game depends, in part, on the efforts of the band. The band contributes atmosphere, color, and martial music to the mood of an autumn day.

Under the direction of Mr. Clarence Andrews, the band also played for concerts, parades, and assemblies.

ORCHESTRA

The P.H.S. orchestra, under the tutelage of Mr. Dwight Brown, is a splendid complement to the high school band. It serves to highlight high school functions which are conducted indoors. Our compliments to a fine organization.

First row: K. Crowe, Co-captain; C. Gerdsen, Captain. Second row: M. Clark, P. Haynsworth. Third row: L. Siergej, D. O'Brien, S. Miniere. Fourth row: S. Campbell, F. Shuha, J. Bengivenga, J. Bartlett.

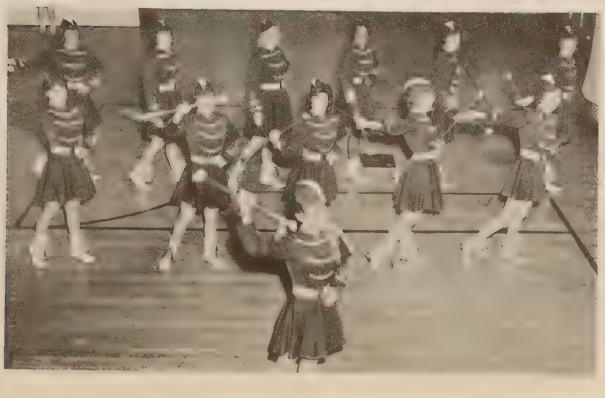
They Boost Our Spirit

CHEERLEADERS

Hard working and vivacious, captain Carol Gerdsen and co-captain Katherine Crowe, and the squad have cheered P.H.S. through another year of victory. Under the leadership of Miss Audrey Joyce, the cheerleaders have kept the spirits of the school high at basketball games, football games, and pep rallies, and they deserve a team yell for their exuberant efforts.

TWIRLERS

Here come the twirlers! Leading the way for the band are the P.H.S. twirlers, captained by Mary Perna and under the direction of Miss Ruth Denker. Participating at football games and pep-rallies, this vibrant group has never failed to keep up the spirits at P.H.S.



First row, right to left: M. Perna, Captain; J. Lynch, Co-captain; M. Fallon, C. Luisi, C. Mormile, S. SantaBarbara. Second row: M. Pear, S. Metz, B. Disbrow, D. Burgess, A. Watson, B. Foggotti.

DRAMA CLUBS

Why is this year's drama club different from those of other years? Does the difference lie in the quality of the actors and actresses? No! The drama club at P.H.S. has always had fine thespians. This year, however, the drama clubs met as one. Merging for the first time were the Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Under the direction of Miss Mixer and Miss Kramer, with four officers and an elected drama council at their head, they were able to operate with ease despite the large membership.

First row: P. Golub, P. Wallis, P. Riley, D. Herstein, P. Roberts, V. Zielenski, R. Doty, M. Karam, R. Rappaport, S. Onque, S. Herdel, N. Meeks. Second row: M. Klick, T. Hartsharm, J. Pilpul, M. Therein all the Honor Lies"

Their programs are prepared and produced by workshops. These workshops are used for business management, make-up, costumes, scenery, acting and directing.

Putting on the annual Inter-Class Play contest and participating in the Plainfield Area Little Theatre contest have kept these enthusiastic actors and actresses busy.

First row: G. Garrett, B. Polski, V. Garzillo, S. Fliechman, M. Fallon, L. August, B. Alberino, A. Livingston, S. Mendez, J. Basso, S. Goldberg. Second row: M. Costello, J. Frank, L. Lerner, R. GIRLS' LEADERS CLUB

Are you interested in sports? Do you possess leadership qualities? Would you enjoy keeping score, taking role, or even having charge of a gym class? If you are a junior or senior girl who can answer in the affirmative to all of the preceding questions, the Girls' Leaders Club, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth B. King, would be an ideal club for you.

Ready, Willing,

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

If you have never played Latin bingo, ask the members of the Junior Classical League to tell you about it. The league, sponsored by Mrs. Ellen Stubbs and open to Latin students, does not devote its time solely to recreational activities. At Christmas time, members raise money for gifts for needy children in the Ozark section of our country.

First row: H. Feldman, C. Brown, R. Grote, J. Ruane. Second row: J. Mitchell, L. Bronson, N. Mehl, L. Blecher, H. Carmichael, N. Garrett, D. Herzog. Third row: R. Hamrah, M. Lefkowitz, K. Steinberg.

First row: Mr. Banta, M. Kennedy, L. Hanigan, D. LaRossa, A. Murray, S. Daum. Second row: G. De Matteo, D. Belardo, J. Swaney, W. Carmichael. Third row: P. Alpert, J. Nadler, J. Boynton.

THE FIRE DRILL SQUAD

"Saved by the bell!" This is the comment often made by students at work in their classrooms, but this bell is the signal for the Fire Drill Squad, under the direction of Mr. Henry Banta, to begin to see that all windows and doors are closed and that students leave the building promptly in a quiet, orderly manner. The squad members, including juniors and seniors, are appointed by Student Council.

THE LIBRARY COUNCIL

The many books and magazines in the P.H.S. library would never hold their rightful places on the shelves if it were not for the efforts of the members on the Library Council. Classifying, shelving, and checking literature in and out are among the necessary duties fulfilled by the council, headed by Miss Josephine Miller.

THE STAGE ELECTRICIANS

Without the help of the Stage Electricians Club, our school functions would be held in complete darkness. So, the success of our school plays and dances is in a large measure due to the efforts of this club. These boys, under the direction of Mr. Eric Nelson, are responsible for lighting and other technical chores.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

The Future Nurses Club, under the direction of Miss Olga Sobolak, consists of girls from all classes who are planning a nursing or medical career. Throughout the year the girls participate in varied activities, such as volunteering for hospital work and taking field trips. Talks and movies about the collegiate and hospital courses of nursing are also a part of the club activities.

NEWS BUREAU

If there is news to be found in P.H.S., you can be sure that it will be covered by one of the competent members of the News Bureau. Under the wise direction of Mr. John W. Simpson, the P.H.S. reporters cover news which is conveyed to the public through news articles in the Courier-News. These members perform a wonderful service to the school and let others know of the interests and responsibilities of the P.H.S. students.

PROJECTION SQUAD

With the cry of lights, camera, action! the members of the projection club are ready for work. These boys, under the watchful supervision of Mr. Howard Jump, not only learn how to operate the visual aid equipment, but they perform a service to the school as well.

Textbooks are not enough, so with the material that the visual aid department handles, we are able to receive a more well rounded education.

FUTURE TEACHERS CLUB

Don't be surprised if some of our P.H.S. students someday become teachers because, under the direction of Mrs. Rasmussen, this club works very hard to get an insight and further interests in teaching. The club helps its members decide which colleges and which grade levels of teaching are best suited for them.

The club program includes speakers, movies, and some informal practice teaching. Some of the highlights of the club program are community work with children and discussion with foreign students about the methods of teaching in their various countries.

Gridders Complete Perfect Season

Tied for first place in the state, the PHS football team fought their way to an unblemished record of eight wins and no losses. With only two teams able to score against the PHS powerhouse, the gridders roared easily to the Union County and Central Jersey championships. Only two other teams in the history of PHS have been able to finish with a perfect season, and both were under the direction of Coach Abe Smith. Prospects for next year are good, with most of the backfield returning.

COLUMBIA NIPPED ON 95-YARD RUN

A 95-yard dash by Herman Johnson in the closing seconds of the third quarter decided the score of the Cardinals' first outing. Johnson also scored the first touchdown from the one-yard line after passes by Pete Liske to Johnson. Jim Fania set up the play.

PASSES BLANK WOODBRIDGE

With the "stone wall" defense holding Woodbridge scoreless, aerials accounted for most of the gains and scoring in the PHS attack. The ground game was sparked with two TD's by Johnson, while passes from Liske and Turi to Dom Belardo and Bob Zagoria accounted for the other two scores. Two placements by John Coyle rounded the final score to 26-0.

PERTH AMBOY PLASTERED

John Coyle and Herm Johnson copped two touchdowns each as they led the Cards to a 46-13 romp over Perth Amboy. Tom McCreesh recovered a fumble to set up a score, and Tierno and Fania each crossed the goal. Highlight of the game was a score by lineman Buddy Wilson, who stole the ball on a Perth Amboy play.

JEFFERSON JOLTED

Coyle and Johnson again scored a pair to lead PHS to their fourth straight win of the season, downing Thomas Jefferson 42-0. Liske and Turi combined to hit 9 of 13 passes for three of the scores. Ends Zagoria and Belardo each scored; Zagoria's TD was the result of a 44 yard toss by Pete Liske. Rounding out the perfect day, Joe Turi made six out of six conversions.

BRUNSWICK — BEWITCHED, BOTHERED, BEWILDERED

Plainfield remained in the unbeaten ranks as they passed their first big test of the season, beating powerful New Brunswick 14-0. The first PHS touchdown was scored by Coyle as he made a circus catch of Turi's pass for twenty yards and a TD. Johnson picked up the second score on a 14-yard run.

UNION PLOWED UNDER

The Farmers never saw the goal line as the rock wall of PHS held them scoreless. Pete Liske made his best showing in completing 8 of ten passes for three TD's and 254 yards. Two of the touchdown passes hit Johnson, who scored three times in the first half. Liske hit Belardo for the last score, while Fania also added six points in the second half. With this win the Cards annexed the Central Jersey Championship.

BARRINGER BURIED

The Cards combined brilliant running with a passing attack sparked by Pete Liske to register their third straight shutout, 27-0. Liske threw three touchdown passes and scored once. Coyle scored twice, and Bob Zagoria added the fourth TD, while Turi made three conversions. 13,500 fans watched Plainfield blank its second unbeaten and untied team in a row.

CARDS HALT WESTFIELD

The Red and Blue posted its eighth victory as fullback Jim Fania led the Cards to a 21-0 rout in the Turkey-Day classic. Fania scored three times from the 2-, 3-, and 4-yard lines. Westfield was hopelessly outclassed, and they never even got the ball to midfield.

Quintet Has Luckless Season

Finishing the year with a record of seven wins and fifteen losses, Coach Bill Brann's basketball squad found that depth trouble was the big problem of the season.

With only one starter, Herman Johnson, back from last year's varsity squad, the team was forced to depend mainly on younger and untried players. Johnson, the leading scorer for the Redbirds, was assisted by Pete Liske, Bob Sobel, Doug Smith, Al Griffen, Reggie Crawley, and Al Smith in running up a point total of 238. Pete Liske followed closely with a total of 234 points.

The defense proved to be the stumbling block for the P.H.S. regulars during most of the season. The quintet started the season with a good showing against Springfield, nipping the Bulldogs 52-49. The team was unable to continue the winning ways, however, and after the first five games the average never got above .500. In the County tournament the Cards were eliminated in the first round, but in the State tourney the hoopsters defeated Union, a formidable opponent, to move into the second round, where they were defeated by Linden.

Prospects for next season are better, for only two of the regulars, Pete Liske and Doug Smith, are leaving the squad. Those returning for another season of play will be Herman Johnson, Al Smith, Al Griffin, Dom Belardo, and Reggie Crawley.

Winning Season

The P.H.S. mermen chalked up their twenty-fifth consecutive winning season under the guidance of Coach Vic Liske. A record of six wins and five defeats was accompanied by a third in the Union County meet and a fifth in the state. Two boys, John Boynton and Roy Nichols, stood out as the stalwarts of the team, each finishing with an undefeated record in dual meet competition. Boynton set new school records in the 200 yard freestyle, 120 yard individual medley, and the 150 yard individual medley. For the third time in a row, Roy Nichols won the Union County Championship diving contest. In the state meet he also finished first and established a new record.

Other key swimmers who rounded out the team were: freestylers, Mike Miller, Herold Wilson, and Pete Liske; breast stroker, Walter Misiak; and back stroker, Bill Lynch.

Grapplers Finish With 2-8 Record

Faced with a lack of depth, Coach John Pepe took the P.H.S. wrestling team through a season marked with two victories and eight losses. Coach Pepe, a wresting star while at P.H.S. and at Penn State, made his coaching debut this year.

Standouts on this year's squad were Lamont Cassett, Joe Turi, John Nevius, Jerry Plum, and Bob Zagoria. The wins for the club were over North Plainfield and Thomas Jefferson. In the district meet the team took a third place, relying heavily on the boys in the middle weight classes. Plainfield failed to place in the state meet, as the only entrant, John Nevius, was defeated by the boy who went on to take the state championship in his weight class.

Coach Pepe predicted a better season for next year as most of his lettermen would be returning for another year. Those seniors making their last appearance on the mats are Bob Zagoria, Jerry Plum, and Lamont Cassett.

Netsters Take Thirteen Matches

The P.H.S. tennis team, under the direction of Gilbert Young, enjoyed another highly successful season. The team played fourteen matches against various New Jersey high schools, won thirteen, and lost only to Trenton High. Three games were called off because of inclement weather. Especially exciting was the match against Westfield from which the Cardinals emerged victorious by a score of 3-2. Up until their meeting with the Cardinals, the Westfield tennis team stood undefeated throughout a series of thirty-three consecutive matches. Later in the season, when the Cardinals came up against Westfield for a second clash, Westfield went down once again by the same score 3-2.

The prospects for the 1959 season look bright with the spotlight centering around James Dunn, Roy Gartner, Robert Merrill, and Joel Schapiro. This year's two junior teammates, Roy Gartner and Joel Schapiro, banded together as a doubles team and remained undefeated with a total of fourteen victories to their credit. Seniors who made their last appearance on the P.H.S. tennis courts during the '58 season were Pete Seidel, Jim Shrager, and Roger Schwartz. Roger Schwartz was selected as this year's honor athlete in tennis.

Cards Complete

The 1958 Plainfield Diamondmen concluded their first winless season in history with twelve losses stacked up against a tie and no wins. However, the record does not show the six games which were lost by only one run. For the first season in 22 years of coaching, mentor Jack Liddy failed to win a game.

Handling the infield chores were Joe Turi, John Coyle, Dick Greenwood, Wayne Baldino, and Doug Clash. Flies were chased by Stan Stagaard, Buster

The P.H.S. trackmen ran, jumped, and threw their way to another victorious season under the direction of Marshall Brown, track mentor.

Big Herm Johnson led the team scoring, breaking the P.H.S. record for the broad jump with a leap of 22'9". Johnson also scored the most points in dual meet competition. The team racked up other wins against New Brunswick, a powerful Thomas Jefferson club, and Woodbridge. In the Columbia-Perth Amboy triangular meet, the team won easily with a total of 72-5/6 points.

The runners copped a third place in the Union County relays. Another third was awarded the team at the Newark Board of Education meet. The team sparked up, however, to take a close second in the Long Branch relays. At the Union County track meet the team again took second. The club made a very respectable showing at the Central Jersey meet with a point total of 26¼ to cop third place. At the State meet Herm Johnson was the only point-getter.

Team Finishes with Eight Win Record

Cecil Jones led the Plainfield High cross country team to an eight wins and two defeats record. The two setbacks came from a strong New Brunswick squad and an equally powerful Holy Trinity of Westfield team.

This year Plainfield won the Union County meet, held in Elizabeth, and placed second in the Central Jersey run, which was copped by the Zebras of New Brunswick.

The top man on this year's cross country team was Cecil Jones, a senior who has been on the team since his freshman year. His best time was a 13:02, a new school record. He turned in his terrific time for the two and a half mile event at Warinaco Park in Elizabeth.

The three seniors on this year's team were Jones, Peter Hierl, and Joel Nadler. Others who will be back for next year are Ralph Harper, Ken Davis, Augie Grace, Dave Folk, Tom Foster and Ron Williams.

GIRLS' TENNIS

P.H.S. tennis courts hummed with activity early this fall as the girls polished up on their court form and scores. At the end of the season, the girls best qualified participated in the interclass tournament.

Helping advanced players, as well as beginners, to improve their game was Miss Marion L. Newson.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

After school swimming for girls was held twice a week during the fall season. Under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Rose, the girls were taught the skills of aquatic ballet. About thirty girls participated in this sport.

Last spring Mrs. Virginia Hogan instructed the girls in water games and relay races.

Varied Sports Programs

GIRLS' ARCHERY

Plainfield High girls interested in learning the fundamental skills of archery met three times a week this spring under the guidance of Mrs. Ruth B. King.

The girls who became adroit at this sport were able to participate in the tournaments. Whoever scored the highest number of points during the season received an archery cup, signifying her accomplishments. One skilled girl from each of the four classes competes in the interclass tournament.

Mrs. King and the four captains chose girls with a real interest in archery to be members of the honorary Red and Blue teams.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

During the year any girl who participates in sports is automatically a member of the Girls' Athletic Association. Two meetings are held each year, one in the fall and one in the spring. The girls elect officers at the spring meeting.

The officers meet during the year with their sponsor, Miss Rose, and arrange the budget, set up the policies, and make out the program for the following election. Another of the officers' duties is to aid in carrying out the point system. This system enables a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, through participation in sports, to earn enough points to win an award.

Memories Are Made of This

"Memory — that strange deceiver. Who can trust her? How believe her?" Years from now, when we pick up the dust-covered volume that is our 1959 Milestone, we do not want our memories to fail us as we try to recapture our days at Plainfield High. Everyday happenings, which we now take for granted, will become treasured moments in retrospect. Let the following pages serve to recall to our minds such various facets of P.H.S. as football games, assemblies, and school dances. All of these things, along with some information concerning the year's national highlights, will complete our record of the school year 1958-1959.

SEPTEMBER — With the ringing of the 8:25 bell on September 3, summer vacation had officially ended; and P.H.S. students, some eager, some resigned, came back to familiar classrooms for another year of hard study. Our youngest members, who had appeared so nonchalant on Freshman Day, felt some of their confidence oozing away as they approached the maze of corridors and classes, but in a few days everyone became acclimated. (Teenagers down in Arkansas and Virginia did not share in the national back-to school days; a number of schools there failed to re-open following controversy concerning classroom integration). Football season officially started with our brand new cardinal out there in front, boosting our spirit to an all-time high! With our football team worth cheering for, the promise of new and interesting classes, and extra-curricular activities on the agenda, September was a fine start to our successful school year.

OCTOBER — This was the month for note-worthy national and international news. Uncle Sam sent a new missile toward the moon, which went one third of its way to target. Western-Soviet talks began in Geneva to put the nuclear test ban into effect, but no immediate results were recorded. Pope John XXIII was chosen new head of the Roman Catholic Church. Back at Plainfield High, Seniors experienced the first nervous twinges concerning their future after graduation. Some of us began filling out college applications while others looked into the possibilities of working at full-time jobs. To help with our plans, Stavid Company showed films about the Junior Achievement group in assembly. Social activities were not slighted; the annual Fall Mixer culminated the successful sales of S.A.T. tickets. We were pleased to note the thirteenth birthday of the United Nations, another significant event in October.

NOVEMBER — A new month began, crowned by — you guessed it — report cards, the first set of the year. This cast a temporary blight on our well-being, but we soon forgot those little red marks as we packed the football stands to help the cardinal spur on our unbeaten, untied team. Salom Rizk appeared once again on the P.H.S. stage, telling delighted students anecdotes about his arrival in America. The final performance of Grammercy Ghost, senior class play, was presented to a gratifyingly large audience. (Moscow stirred up new trouble in Berlin . . . Democrats won a majority of seats in Congress and state governorships in the November elections). The feminine contingent of Plainfield High was busily at work using Hula Hoops to waistlines trim. Annual Thanksgiving Assembly brought November to a close, and we all prepared for the holiday festivities.

"I HEREBY PROMISE TO FULFILL MY DUTIES" — Don LaRossa, Carol Lindstrom, Nyle Brown, and Richard Young are inducted as Student Council officers by Mr. Held.

CLUB '61 — Pat Phillips, Heather Hinman, and Sue Hesse help to decorate for their class dance.

DECEMBER — This is the month described as "dreary" by many poets, but it was not a somber time for P.H.S. Our football team was glowingly described as "one of the best in the history of the school" as it completed an outstanding record of no losses and no ties. We learned that the newspaper strike had been settled, so Current Events classes resumed world discussions. Also on the national scene was the tragic Chicago school fire which killed 93 children. Back at P.H.S. the cafeteria was utilized for the purpose of holding an auction to distribute items accumulated in the Lost and Found. Seniors, nervous and sleepy, returned to P.H.S. on Saturday, the twelfth, to take College Board exams. As December slipped by, such comments were heard as, "Hope we don't get homework over the vacation" and "Wonder if we'll have a white Christmas?"

JANUARY — The new year, 1959, brought us back to school just in time for another round of report cards. As usual, students took on a philosophical attitude and vowed to "bring them up next time." Boys sported new "Perry Como" sweaters in hues to shock the rainbow while bulky-knit cardigans were still the rage among the females. Student Council sponsored the Adoption Hop, proceeds of which were used to foster an orphan in a foreign country. We all read the newspapers to keep informed about the visit of Russia's deputy premier, Mikoyan, to the United States.

FEBRUARY—Where is all the snow? Ice skates slowly rusted at home while students took advantage of the pre-spring weather to ride about in open cars. Candidates for next year's Student Council gave speeches in assembly to an interested student body. Talent assembly took a close second in popularity that month. It included such features as a male quartet, special song and dance numbers, and the annual and inimitable magic act by Joe Kling. A mural painted by advanced art students was proudly hung on the walls of the cafeteria. It cleverly depicts Plainfield as it actually was many years ago. Faculty members represent various characters in the mural. We were one of the lucky few schools to have a Midwinter vacation at the end of the month, which all of us spent lamenting the fact that we must return in a few days to face the final week of the marking period.

MARCH — Voting machines were used for the first time for Student Council elections. Students were instructed in the use of the machines during assemblies, and almost 2,000 of us voted quickly and expeditiously. Members of the sophomore class held their dance, "Club 61," during this month, and it was a great success. Speaking of the sophomores, we notice that everyone seems to be wearing those smart P.H.S. sweatshirts that the class of '61 persuaded so many of us to buy this year. The annual Interclass Play Contest was held on March 20, giving P.H.S. thespians a chance to show their talent. This is the month that Cyprus gained its independence and MacMillan went to Russia to try to negotiate with Kruschev. Meanwhile, Secretary of State Dulles was still confined to the hospital following the report of his having cancer.

"I CAME FROM UP THERE" — Richard Grote and Estelle Manasse rehearse for Grammercy Ghost, the Senior Class play.

APRIL — March went out "like a lamb," and all of us traded in those heavy winter jackets for our comfortable trench coats — practically a standard spring uniform at P.H.S. Seniors began receiving those long-awaited letters of acceptance from various colleges and universities throughout the country. Bulletin boards staggered under the weight of over-lapping posters showing candidates for next year's class offices. Seniors began to experience that left-out feeling as next year's schedules, offices, ushers' squad, and cheerleaders were picked. Spring fever hit us hard, but we tried diligently to keep our averages high — finals will soon be here.

MAY — Shakespeare describes many things "as full of spirit as the month of May." He might well have had Plainfield High in mind. The Choral Festival presented a beautiful arrangement of songs and a harmony of melodious voices during this month. Seniors attended the annual banquet; we had a gay time but an underlying aura of sadness surrounded us, for this would be our last function as a unit, with the exception, of course, of Commencement. A review assembly of the year's events brought back the nostalgia of awkward freshman days, the spirit of those fall football games, and the highlights of our social events. Most of us had already decided upon our summer plans. Vacations would be in the offing for the lucky ones, while some of us would seek employment for the summer months.

JUNE — "Will you sign my yearbook?" "Didn't you think that your history exam was the most horrible test you've ever taken?" "Only a few more days left of school!" Questions and comments such as there were frequently heard about the halls. Our last two assemblies, Senior Sports and Academic Awards, were presented on the fifth and twelfth of June. For the seniors, even the excitement of the Junior-Senior Prom was dimmed somewhat by the expectation of graduation. Report cards were issued for the last time; farewells were bid to favorite faculty members; caps and gowns were donned with trembling fingers. As each senior stepped forward to receive his diploma, many things flashed through his mind; exuberance was tempered by sadness, and a feeling of pride mingled with regret for all that might have been during those four endless, yet quicksilver, years at Plainfield High School.

"If we work upon marble, it will perish; if on brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, and imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow-men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity."
